You were a dream for me to catch
Every night I tried to live it again
Just wanted to feel you within me
I feel no more

Cried with the rain falling down
Every thunder was a scream of mine
Burned myself within your love
I cry no more

What if I cannot see you again
What if I cannot dream of your love
Nightmares haunted me for years
I fear no more

A childish hope was my love
Everyday I whispered to God
Countless times I prayed to hold you for once
I hope no more

Ruined when you left me in the cold
Frozen for ages, all of my thoughts
All of my feelings collapsed
I love no more

Years passed since my death
I felt your ache every single day
Was it passion or a mistake?
I speak no more
