

Driver

"All That You Are"

Visit "All That You Are" on MotoLyrics.com

Reach for the clock on the table
Roll to the floor from your cradle
Fight through the day like a soldier
And crash

Swim to the edge of your morning
You've done everthing and it's boring
And every one of your promises
Are broken

All that you are is burning out
And all that you were is in doubt
The harder you try, the further you slide
You're on your own, but you're not alone

Reach for the phone or the trigger
The concrete jungle's getting bigger
You punch at your shadow
Then you run away from yourself

All that you are is burning out
And all that you were is in doubt
The harder you try, the further you slide
You're on your own, but you're not alone

Fight through the day like a soldier
And crash...And crash!

All that you are is burning out
And all that you were is in doubt
The harder you try, the further you slide
You're on your own, but you're not alone, not alone

All that you are is burning out
(All that you are is burning out)
And all that you were is in doubt
(and all that you were is in doubt)
The harder you try, the further you slide
You're on your own, but you're not alone, not alone

