Millennium of repetition
Breaking through the days of late
Prod the pride of humanity
And dwell upon it's viscous state
Gaining more as time excels
But loosing life in our sordor
Collapse in your avidity
Seeing in through eyes outside
I see the world as the demise
Forfeiting validity

Something is washed right through our hands
Impelled by this consternation
Minds of logic forever lost
And torn again from our hearts

View upon reality
To prove it's truths in history
Look at what's been done with our chance to create
Utopia
(As we bleed out a euphoria)
Leave it alone and stay innocent
Now it's too late to bring redemption to our world
I'm the example of the fallen man

Do we ever hold to reality
Undistorted sanctity

Something is washed right through our hands
Impelled by this consternation
Minds of logic forever lost
And torn again from our hearts
