I can't imagine what this world holds in such high regard
That only the rich can withstand the worlds unopen heart
Tyrannical machines claiming dominion as they fell when They threw their hearts away in order to excel

Here for you, no one to hold your hand and save you

I don't understand how this world hasn't reached the end
Sacrifice what you hold dear, your reality's pretend
Lost in your glory, fear the majority
Where society fell
You rule the power, money's machine
Puts us all in hell

Here for you, no one to hold your hand and save you

Sacrifice what you hold dear, your reality's pretend

Here for you, no one to hold your hand and save you
