Say you never send me away
Makin' me a memory and
Tellin' me to find a life
Change, there's no changing
What cannot be changed
And you are witness to a silent conversation
Nothin' but the black of night
No-one ever takes your place
Gotta let the pantomime
Play
Not to worry, my telepathy
I bring you into me there'll be no separation

And I tell you
I will climb in side your world
And at the dawn of history
I was born to find this girl

And I can see you with my eyes closed
I can feel you when you're near me
Just the knowing that you
Hear me, could be
You could measure my love
I can touch you with my hands tied
It don't take no extra feeling
Let your imagination, just run
You can measure my love

And they tell you
They can stop those tears you cry
And we can ride that storm together
And all the love that lasts forever
And forever, and forever

Cling to the vine and the vine never breaks
It's a message from a ship to shore
For the soul and the sacrifice
Pain
There's no fury
Like a woman scorned
We could be victims of a lethal combination

It's the hour
It's the sword that hides the stone
And one of us holds the power
There to forge our hearts together
Here forever, and forever
