From day to day we live searching for our identity while the rich man says we are a menace to society but they dont know what its like (they dont know) what its really like
what its really like
To face real ghetto pain to face real ghetto pressure
to face real ghetto pain
On and on we go for it we try to uphold our brothers turn to crime killing each other for a dime while the opressor say that turnin to qualities is the only way
We face real ghetto pain
we face pain pressure
we face real ghetto pain
we face real pressure
One day one day the table will turn and to all me out there (to all me out there) beware for our barriers will burn (burn burn burn)
One day one day the table will turn
We face real ghetto pain
