She always wants what she can't have
Life is so cruel
She's always good when she's so bad
What can she do?

She's always telling me stories
Always telling me lies

She's opened up for the long run
You can tell how, it shows
But she's always thinking of someone
That's how it goes
She always calls when she's lonely
Always calls when she needs me

Always, always
Always, always
Always, always
Sometimes, she's more than I can take

When she shines on me with her love lights
Sweet heaven above
When her body presses against mine
Warm like the shining sun

She only wishes me glory
She only wants to adore me

Always, always
Always, always
Always, always
Sometimes

Always, always
Always, always
Always, always
Sometimes, sometimes

Always, always
Always, always
Always, always

She's all that I can take
