All these buckets of rain
I've heard enough about
You say that I lied
I am a gentlemen
Didn't I ask for a place I could stay Well, what were we both thinking the next part just got in the way?
You were just always talking about Changing
What if I was the same man
The same I always was

All these things that you say
Like i'll forget about
The mind-numbing games that you play
I am a gentlemen
Didn't I pay for every laugh every dime,
Every bit in return
And then you feed me some lie
I wont hear one more word about Changing Guess what I am the same man same man I've always been

Days pass and turn into weeks when we don't even speak
We just lay wide awake
And pretend we're asleep
And you go home alone
And your checking your phone
And you're looking at me
Like I'm Something You Own

All these buckets of rain
You cant forget about
You say I'll never try
I am a gentlemen
Didn't I answer every time that you called Picked you up when you fall
But you never listened at all
You were just always talking about Changing
Guess what I am the same man, same man

Changing guess what I am the same man, same man

Changing guess what I am the same man, same man
