It was an old song,
From Kiss me, kiss me, kiss me when she sang.
It was an old line,
I kept with me with me with me when she rang(?)

You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.

It's all been arranged(?)
Everyone is telling me,
It's slightly deranged,
Everyone is telling me.

We traded blindness for some wisdom
& some lines around the eyes.
And you just act like it was a fact of life
It didn't come as a surprise.
You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.

And no you can't ever go home.
Everything has changed and people are gone.
So close your eyes and try to summon a song
and you feel your life falling under you like a (what?)

It was an old song,
I once knew every note and every line.
It was a long night,
I carried you and you carried me for a time.
You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.
