And if it helps to draw this feelings,
To make you happier,
To get lost in your own way,
Get lost in your own way
And when the stars they keep telling me to go away,
Rush things to indecisions
So sail away

You'll never know,
How much it hurts from my point of view,
I'll pack up my feelings
Just sail away, sail away

I'll crash this course
And turn this fire upside down
So sail away, sail with everything that's dead
(I'll crash this course)
(And feel your words cuts through my skin)
(Just sail away)
(Leaving me won't make me weak)

Heart splits like shattered pieces of glass
You're like cuts on my wrist
Bleeding imperfection
That's all you have

I noticed things will fade away
Like fireflies lost their glowing lights
Lost in darkness searching for a piece of light
It's time to tell the world how you've tried to Kill this life.
