"City Lights"

City lights sleep before you make it home
No memory of the night before the dawn
A cup of coffee cigarette and toast
One more hour will see you through

People walk the streets sunshine in their eyes
They don't need to speak they say it with their eyes
And all along you'll find one thing that is true
No one knows what you can do

Can you walk across the ocean sail down the street
Can you run jump and fly
Do we believe what you say is what you do
Or is it just another dream

In the shadow of a bright sunny day
Looking out the door you know you know the way
Been down this road so many times before
On and on and on and on it goes

By the water lying in the sand
No one there to give a helping hand
Newspaper tells how it might have been
Now it's all up to you
