There's a place where no one cares about tomorrow
Where you'd never see a smile there's only sorrow
And love can't break your heart when you're inside
It's a private little world where losers hide.

I'm living in a private little world
Where tears are payment for the things you buy
I'm living in a private little world
Where all you need to know is how to cry.

--- Instrumental ---

I couldn't stand another broken heart
So I wanted was another chance to start
I'll take my tears and then I'll run away
To my private little world and there I'll stay.

I'm living in a private little world
Where tears are payment for the things you buy
I'm living in a private little world
Where all you need to know is how to cry..
