As the primal chord is struck
Fire rages in his soul
The demon enters from within
As the rock begins to roll
All his life
The boy had nothing
To meet challenge
He went through hell
Now the torch has killed the dove
The torch has killed the dove
The flames dance in his eyes
Only hate remains for him
The darkness starts to rise
The flames dance brightly in his eyes
His fists become steel
Those who mocked him years before
Will die or they will kneel
All his life he had no love
He didn't have a friend
Somewhere in this bleak terrain
The mind began to bend
The torch has killed the dove...
A demon trapped within all men
Has won the battle here
And those who set the demon free
Now have cause to fear
Gone the days of loneliness
Trapped within his brain
He steps forth into darkness
And remembers all the pain
