below a certain level of intoxication hidden like a joyful bundle prisoner of inebriation if you had the chance
would you realize
that every bitter drop
is clouding up your eyes yeah, it's clouding up your eyes the motive come of sympathy and portrait from the empathetic more than just a head is aching now you are apologetic wouldn't have the need to doubt you if your trappings weren't synthetic and if you had the chance
and if you stop to think would you be surprised that it's clouding up your eyes and it's raining from your skies you'll have to be the one to let you know what you already know
To let you know, to let you know don't pretend the scapegoats heavy I see little stacked against you don't invent another venom self infliction will prevent you by the time you get this message some poor notion might expect you
