She checks everything, nothing's limiting She's oblivious, you're too obvious, she knows that She knows that you love her in your own way
And it's totally strange that you never even go with her
By the time she gets to the party she's forgotten you

She's coming down again
It felt so good when she got high
She told you things she wanted to believe in Then it was so sad she repeated and repeated
What a shitty way to spend a night

Like some candidates know the antidote
She's not telling you, she's not selling you nothing
There's nothing to gain just by asking her
There's no compromise, if not in, you're not existing
And you wish that you were inside more than just her world

She's coming down again
It felt so good when she got high
She ran out quick and sent someone to get it
Then she got ripped off, she ended up with nothing
What a shitty way to end the night

Like a domino falling on your phone
You found that you had nothing left to offer
If it was gold they'd laugh you out the door
And so it's sad to say that most people don't even act this way
So why is she so important to you?

She's coming down again
It felt so good when she got high
She took too much and she started to panic
Does anybody have a couple extra Xanax?
What a shitty way to spend a night

There's no funeral
Just the usual
Gathering in a small town you've never heard of You thought that you knew her

She never told you she was so far from home
But home was simply the last place
The last place that she was looking for
That was your mistake

She's coming down again
It felt so good when she got high
But something's wrong, it's never been this strong
There wasn't even time to call the paramedics
What a shitty way to end a life

Oh, she's coming down again
It felt so good when you got high
If you're half as lucky you'll end up just like her
Taking over bars and holding nights for hipsters
What a killer way to spend your life

She's coming down again
