From long ago, before the storm
I knew that I was alone
Left to my world, strange and unknown
Now it has take it's toll
There was a dream, that brought me here
Far away, far from my home
There was a dream, that brought me here
Far away, far away and alone

Fate's not smiled down on me
Still I cry for my reprieve
Time slips by, never here
Always gone, never seems so near

All along, you were the one
That planted the seed, deep inside me
Dreams go on, one into one
Never a doubt, that you were beside me
Still I'm strong, I will go on
Even though, you have abandoned me
You've closed the door, trapped my soul
But one day I will be free!

Just let me be, here in my peace
Where I can be alone with thoughts
No company, just misery
And the burden of what has become of us all
There was a dream, that brought me here
Far away, far from my home
There was a dream, that brought me here
Far away, far away and alone

Fate's not smiled down on me
Still I cry for my reprieve
Time slips by, never here
Always gone, never seems so near

All along, you were the one
That planted the seed, deep inside me
Dreams go on, one into one
Never a doubt, that you were beside me

Still I'm strong, I will go on
Even though, you have abandoned me
You've closed the door, trapped my soul
But one day I will be free!
All along, you were the one
That planted the seed, deep inside me
Dreams go on, one into one
Never a doubt, that you were beside me
Still I'm strong, I will go on
Even though, you have abandoned me
You've closed the door, trapped my soul
But one day I will be free!
