When the clock strikes two, Theres just so much to do And I cant explain what i need Jobs and social groups Hearing the latest news Keeping our reputations clean

And i, dont wanna worry About being on time Ive seen the way you hurry And time runs your life Again

The difference between east and west Money is so much less Not that im poor, just to fine I wish that the clock would often just be stopped And then we'd look Into the time

And I, don't wanna worry About being on time Ive seen the way you hurry And time runs your life
