Blues stop knocking at my door
Can't you see my heart is sore
Blues stop knocking at my door
What chance has this heart of mine
When I keep losing all the time
Blues stop knocking at my door

Well, lack and misery set me free
And let my love come back to me
Everything I do seems wrong
In a crowd I'm still alone
Blues stop knocking at my door

Why should I feel like I do
When I tried so to be true
Blues stop knocking at my door
Send my lover back to me
So that there no more will be
The blues knocking at my door

Well, lack and misery set me free
And let my love come back to me
Send my lover back to me
So that there no more will be
Blues knocking at my door
