Tell me where I'm supposed to begin
An unhappy life working some kind of dead end job
For everything you thought you had
Has gone from worse to bad

Lean to the side whisper it quiet
The end is in sight to working all night around the clock
For everything you thought you had
Has gone from worse to bad

But it's not my kind of scene, oh yeah
Footprints on the other side
Remind me where I've been, oh yeah
I'll watch from the other side

Tell me where I'm supposed to begin
Move out of sight and onto some life I'm dreaming of
For everything you thought you had
Has gone from worse to bad

So I'll just wait and watch the wheels
While you're turning back

But it's not my kind of scene, oh yeah
Footprints on the other side
Remind me where I've been, oh yeah
I'll watch from the other side

Pulls me over and it drags me under
Pulls me over and it drags me under

Tell me where I'm supposed to begin
An unhappy life working

Alright now, alright now
Alright now, alright now

But it's not my kind of scene, oh yeah
Footprints on the other side
Remind me where I've been, oh yeah
I'll watch from the other side

Alright now, alright now
I'll watch from the other side
Alright now, alright now
I'll watch from the other side
