

Powderfinger

"Sail The Wildest Stretch"

Visit "Sail The Wildest Stretch" on MotoLyrics.com

If you had your time over again,
Would you do it all the same?
Down through all the twists and bends,
Are there moments you'd erase?

Or would you just leave me standing,
In the doorway frozen through?
Waiting on the coldest comfort from you.

If your course could be reset,
Would you steer your ship my way?
Or would you sail the wildest stretch?
Just to feel the force of the waves.

Or would you just leave me waving,
On the dock as you pull away?
Savouring the bitter taste.

The mirror reflect the illusion you make.
You can stop and take a breath,
Feel the damage's wake.
The mirror don't reflect the illusion you make.
You can stop and take a breath,
Feel the damage's wake.

Fade into silence,
Fade into silence,
Fade into silence, feel the damage's wake.
Fade into silence, feel the damage's wake.
Fade into silence, (If you had your time over again)
Fade into silence, (If you had your time over again)
Fade into silence, (Would you sail the wildest stretch?)
Fade into silence, (If you had your time over again)

Visit Powderfinger page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.