(Alright)

Well here they come and there you go
The more that you're thinking, the less that you know
Well one thing is true and one thing's a fact
Once you get gone, you ain't coming back

So throw up your hands, smash up your seat
It's all going down, that's the word on the street
So do it one time for what it's worth
Cause this is the last night on earth

The radio screamed and the TV said
You got one more night before the world goes dead
No time to relax, no time for restraint
There ain't no line between a sinner and a saint

So throw up your hands, smash up your seat
It's all going down, that's the word on the street
So do it one time for what it's worth
Cause this is the last night on Earth
Everything you know has now become one
The past was alright, but the end is more fun

So throw up your hands, smash up your seat
It's all going down, that's the word on the street
So do it one time for what it's worth
Cause this is the last night!

Night!
Night!
Night!

So throw up your hands, smash up your seat
It's all going down, that's the word on the street
So do it one time for what it's worth
Cause this is the last night on Earth
