"Here"

Visit "Here" on MotoLyrics.com

I cannot see the end of the road
And I say only what's been said
I wonder why I do as I'm told
And don't do what I need instead

If everything's already been decided
And we're just here for the ride
Then why are so many in disguise?
From god we cannot hide

I search for a world that does not fade
A lost horizon on a distant plane
And before this life does pass away
Behind the veils I'll find the way

A hundred years is the blink of an eye
And this massive planet a spec in the sky
If our lives will soon be forgotten
Then what's the use in worrying?

I cannot run from myself
And I dream dreams much too real
I cannot explain eternity
But I know that it's here
