We need a little nicotine to get our brains right
We need a little caffeine to get our mind bright

We need a bit of gasoline for our engines to ignite
We need a bit of fantasy to feel alive

We need a little melatonin to kill the daylights
We need a little adrenalin to feel the real life

But I don't need your company
To help me through the empty nights
I don't need your sympathy
To feel alive

I don't need your sympathy
I feel alright

I don't need your sympathy...
