"Save Your Dream"

Just raise your head. You should take a step
Out of the crowd that surrounds you.
Leave all your doubts, all this senseless crap.
Tear down the wall that still bounds you.

Don't let despair be your second name.
You'll make the world shining with your fame.
Don't turn around, please, just don't give up.
Take my advice on the way to the top.

Save your dream.
Swear that you will save your dream.
Keep it's light,
Keep it's warmth beneath your skin.

You may see no compassion
Through the shroud of depression, but believe me:

There is no aim that you cannot reach.
Wind of fate may take you this far.
After years full of troubles and pains, and somewhere
At the end of this lonesome road you will be a star.

Someday you'll get to the highest throne,
Someday you'll find all the answers.
There is no clue, there's no corner stone.
Life is a game full of chances.

One thing that you have to learn before:
Never look back, always ask for more.
You understand: glory has no price.
That's what I read in the spark in your eyes.

Save your dream... (repeat refrain)

Save your dream.
Swear that you will save your dream.
Keep it's light,
Keep it's warmth beneath your skin.

You may sow inspiration

Just to reap desolation, but believe me:

There is no aim that you cannot reach.
Wind of fate may take you this far.
After years full of troubles and pains, and somewhere
At the edge of your lonely world you will be a star.
