Over and over I hear his voice
Whispering softly through haze and noise.
Now I recall all that I have done
Silently waiting for him to come.

Just break your silence, say a word.
Give me a chance for resurrection...
Do I deserve a place beside your heart?

Will you remember, will you forget that love?
That common magic.
Will you remember bliss given from above?
It looks so tragic.

Hiding behind the pain,
Covered by present needs and emotions
Memories must remain.
There's nothing special. It's all you've left for us...

Happiness haunts me just like a ghost.
This is the feeling I miss the most.
Please, lend an ear to my serenade.
That's all I ask if it's not too late.

I will not hurt you anymore.
This is a plot for other chapter.
I'll walk alone but not without my dream.
