"Learning To Be"

Stepping away, I get closer each day
I've been looking for love to find me
Digging away, I will search I will pray
I've been waiting for truth to blind me
Only perceive and the world will conceive
There's a seed in my heart that binds me
Awake in a dream I believe it's extreme
Ruling out that all this is magic...
Look in the eyes of the water that falls
Hiding behind every flower and rock
Why do we dance on the wheel and forget
Life is a child that will never regret
Learning to be, be, be
Sometimes I feel like the distance ain't real
And the watch in my hand is tragic
Sometimes I think that eternity blinks
Paying no due respect to logic
All that I know seems to come from a hole
In the fabric of father space-time
Give me your hand, we are part of this plan
We can force all the chaos to rhyme
Learning to be
Look in the eyes of the water that falls
Hiding behind every flower and rock
Why do we dance on the wheel and forget
Life is a child that will never regret
Learning to be, be, be
Stepping away, I get closer each day
I've been looking for love to find me
Digging away, I will search I will pray
I've been waiting for truth to blind me
