Imagine her, all of her wealth
And in the arms of somebody else
I imagine her in bed

With her communication skills
Cabinet full of creams and pills
Paying the bills and beating the rent

You'll never understand
The wonderful mind of that woman
Powerful beauty in her eyes

Look at that business woman
She's got a head on her shoulders
Look at that business woman
She's not that much older than you

And she reveals inner soul
Stock market flutters, index rolls
When she reveals her secret life

All of the gifts come deep and swift
Promise her anything only if You're going to have to leave your wife

She'll never understand
The wonderful mind of that woman
Beautiful power in her eyes

Look at that business woman
She's got a head on her shoulders
Look at that business woman
She's not that much older than you

And when she comes the stars explode
Exquisite results in input mode
Just when she comes she's suddenly gone

Maybe you'll find her, maybe you won't
Maybe she loves you, baby she don't
Maybe you'll find that you are alone

You'll never comprehend
All of the means, all of the ends
Business woman in her eyes

Look at that business woman
She's got a head on her shoulders
Look at that business woman
She's not that much older than you

Look at that business woman
She's got a head on her shoulders
Look at that business woman
She's not that much older than you
