

Elizabeth & The Catapult

"Taller Children"

Visit "Taller Children" on MotoLyrics.com

We're all just taller children
We're all just taller children
We're all just taller children
We're all just taller children

So you think you know
Think you know
Think you know better
Is it just because
Just because you're older and wiser
Don't you know
Don't you know you don't get smarter
You're the same as you started
You just jump a little higher

(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just

So you're talking like
Talking like you got it together
Mr. Wall Street Wonder
You're the man of the hour
Don't you know that you owe a call to your mother
For such a rich fucker thought you would've known better

(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just

If you don't slow down what's the point of winning
If you can't look up just keep on spinning

If you don't slow down what's the point of winning
If you can't look up just keep on spinning
Spinning round

Got the kid and the pretty wife
Got the boss and there's your life
Take a breath before you buy
Take a breath before you buy

There's a name on the dotted line
There's a name on the dotted line
Take a breath before you buy
Take a breath before you buy

Sit tight
Sit tight
Sit tight
Overcharged

Sit tight
Sit tight
Sit tight
Decaffeinated

There's a name on the dotted line
There's a name on the dotted line
Take a breath before you buy
Take a breath before you buy

Take a breath before you buy

(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)
We're all just taller children
(In the end)

Visit Elizabeth & The Catapult page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.