She doesn't see the yellow light falling on Formica
table tops

Doesn't recognize the empty chairs in her life
Of all these sad cafes, think she's seen quite a lot
And heard all that road house stuff going down

And I say, "She don't have to worry
She don't need to care
She don't have to worry
'Cause I'll be there"

I feel like I'm such a fool, keeping something up here
The reasons that I do, just ain't clear
I try, I try, I try to keep satisfied but isn't what I want
And nothing is gonna keep me from the other side
From other side, from other side

I say, "She don't have to worry
She don't have to care
She don't need to worry
'Cause I'll be there"

Seen the lies in her eyes
Oh God, it comes as such a surprise

Seems like a hopeless case of just plain wasted time
I don't feel another day makes any sense

But I'm still saying, "She don't need to worry
She don't need to care
She don't have to worry
'Cause I'll be there"

She don't need to worry
She don't need to care
She don't have to worry
'Cause I'll be there

She don't need to worry, no, no
She don't worry
Oh, she don't worry, no, no, no, no
She don't, she don't need to worry, no, no

She don't need to worry, no, no, no, no, no
She don't need to care
