Something's coming up deep inside he mind
Forgot that she was down so long such time
Wasting away with the wrong kind
She's made bad choices so often in her life
Been on a hard road from day one
But she thinks I think that it's different but the Same one now

Just one more feeling that she must push away
To carry on with her day
She's down and out with a broken heart again

You could've been something more
You could've been something now

And you fall too fast
And you make it seem that all the stuff
They've taken away
Was for nothing anyway

It's coming up, Something's coming up
It's coming quicker now quick around the bend
Hanging around with the wrong friends
Getting dangerous tonight

You are better off on you own my dear
Better off far away from here
Get away, run like wind

You could've been something more
You could've been something now

And you fall too fast
And you make it seem that all the stuff
They've taken away
Was for nothing anyway

And it just won't last, what's wrong with you
'Cos all this [3x] time wasted it plays
My mind
It's coming up, something's coming up [3x]

You could've been something more
You could've been something now
And you fall too fast
And you make it seem that all the stuff
They've taken away
Was for nothing anyway

I won't feel it I won't go, I won't
Loose this self control
I'm not waiting anymore
