"Use Your Hands"

I never saw another building like yours.
It calls into question what's proper for the architect.
A combination of intelligent pricing and intelligent
Spans
That self-adjust for anyone.

Raze Red Square and the new plans for the Trade Center.
Look- we all know it's appalling, but you're the only
One with plastic explosives in your pack.

"Matt, put it down man. We all know it's appalling but You're the only one with a bomb in your hand."

Use your hands to dig through the cinderblocks,
And crush demands,
And hurt your home.

I never saw another building like yours.
It's breaking apart.
I never saw another dormitory like yours.
It's falling apart.
Use your hands.
