It's always the same
Between me and you
We're playing these games
That I always lose
We rerun the same stroy
But I've made up my mind
Not this time
No more hanging round
Building up and breaking down

This time I won't let you drag me down
You won't make me turn around
This time I will make it through somehow
I'll make it to the other side

It's always the same
Between you and me
You're always to blame
For my misery
Because I live through your sorrow
But I've made up my mind
Not this time

No more trying no more lying no more crying
No more violence screaming silence no more dying
Watch me as I walk away
I have made up my mind
Not this time
