As the dusk embraces the night
Her lips pounding with delight
The devouring of flesh, she desperately needs
Temptation constantly exceeds

Trying to resist the pain inside
Confusion persists in her mind
An enchanting dream or reality now it seems
And her outcome is yet to be seen

The sky is blood red
And the smell of flesh excites her
Growing consciousness
She prays for forgiveness
And opens up her soul
And plunges into the eternal
Black hole

Certainty has now arrived as she takes off into the Night filled sky
Her mind is filled with crushing senses of life
Beyond her cradling needs
Instincts lead her on to what, her destiny must be.

The sky is blood red
And the smell of flesh excites her
Growing consciousness
She prays for forgiveness
And opens up her soul
And plunges into the eternal
Black hole
