Now, you talk about that Bohagus boy. You know him, Billy Bohagus? They found him last week out behind the barn [dramatic pause] with his math teacher, his Scout leader, and the local minister, and that boy had the nerve to say it was part of a biology project. We killed him; had no other choice.

Part 3

I saw you naked, you were chasin' a pig So I led the police to your house and showed 'em where to dig
You thought you could live in peace
But I saw you naked and I called the police

I saw you naked and I saw the terrible things that you did
I saw you naked and you know it made me sick

I saw you naked, you were campin' with scouts
I know they earned some merit badges when the lights went out How could you touch those children?
I saw you naked, you were holdin' a trout

did
I saw you naked and you know it made me sick

Don't you kids try this solo at home That man is a trained professional

I saw you naked, you were up in a tree Were you gonna jump on the paper boy? I hadda wait and see

Were you afraid of squirrels? Poison Ivy?
I saw you naked, you were singin' "Born Free"
"Born Free"

I saw you naked and I saw the terrible things that you
did
I saw you naked and you know it made me sick
