The summer's gone and the clouds are playing
The morning song it frees me
An autumn tune that is breaking through
Today's the day I'll see him
My eyes are full of childlike wonder
My heart it beats a thousand times
I only need to gaze upon him
And all I want is what's mine

All the best things they come small
Like just one word from her world
With just a few words life can turn
I'm upside down, inside out, you twist me all around
Today we'll spend the day together
My fallen angel holds me
Back home again, a year's gone by
Never again I'll let him leave me

So say to me your wildest fears
And let me see how it compares
And if it shares a space in me
I'm upside down, inside out, you twist me all around
Upside down, inside out, you twist me all around
