I moved the moon to grow the tides just to leave myself drifting in the waves
And I devoured the light of sun made it black to blind my eyes and see what eyes can't see I'll break the root of every tree and spoil the life from seeds and curse lands to decay....
I'll make the rivers run back dry
I can't find what I lost just pebbles, bones and dust
No one stays...
Nothing lasts...
It aches, how deep it aches
It hurts, how deep it hurts achesÂ...

Now that youÂ're gone, may all thatÂ's done becomes undone
How deep it aches!
