The sunlight shines from your eyes
The stars gave left the sky
Your face is all that I can see

And moonlight glows from your hair
Your music fills the air
And I can't help believing my eyes

So hold me till the night is through
(I'll hold you till the night is through)
And tell me that the dream is true
(I promise that this dream is true)
And love me more than words can say
(I love you more than words can say)

You are in my arms tonight the world is far away
Love is in our hearts tonight the world is far away

If I could hold back the dawn
And make the world stand still
This night would last forever

These must be clouds beneath my feet
This could be paradise
As long as we believe in magic

So hold me till the night is through
(I'll hold you till the night is through)

And tell me that the dream is true
(I promise that this dream is true)
(Can this be happening to me)
And love me more than words can say
(I love you more than words can say)
(This is a dream, a fantasy)

You are in my arms tonight the world is far away
