Time is still, but motion ensues.
The more that we gain is the more that I lose.
Uncontrollably strong, it remains with you.
I lie here alone don't know what to do.

Time rolls on and closer to home.
My heart pounds, the train is a drone.
Harmonious visions, your lips lips are my tone.
Stuck in time, cause you smile alone.

I've been waiting to meet you in life or in sleep,
That I have since your smile.
Patience my dear, for though you're not here,
Together we'll be with our child.
When we will meet in fortune and fame..the three
We will wonder 'bout life for a while.
The lies that we make, and the lessons we take,
Could not have transcended your smile.

Daydreams of friends I've made in the night.
The News is From Nowhere and never in sight.
The dream I dismiss but even in truth.
The bed I awake is familiar with you.

I've been waiting to meet you in life or in sleep,
That I have since your smile.
Patience my dear, for though you're not here,
Together we'll be with our child.
When we will meet in fortune and fame.. the three
We will wonder 'bout life for a while.
The lies that we make, and the lessons we take,
Could not have transcended your smile.

The lies that we make, and the lessons we take,
Could not have transcended your smile.
