Take me on the road,
Take me on the sea,
Take me all across the world,
Just let me know.

Sing a little song,
a little melody melody,
The words that make your world,
I'll make them grow.

Tiny is the sun,
aloof is the sky,
Wonder about the people walking by.

Funny as fate,
As hard as you try,
You can't pretend,
That life has no surprise.

Isn't life just a spectacle?
One hand short of a miracle.
And if you're body flies through the wind..
And you don't think you ever want it back again..

Well isn't life just an obstacle
That you can't wait to get around?
And you might break your face
Just to break the mold
Lift your hand and count you out.
Count it!

Shock me, Tell me about the story that you heard.
We've got all day to hammer out Just where it is absurd.
Spectacles and roundabouts and details afterwards,
You're gonna get it all today.

Wherever there's a road
Amazing you'll see lines for glitter carpets on the rise.

I question the rogue, should I take the plea,

When i get just one chance to vocalize?

Asleep in the day, awake in the night,
Only so many roads to take your life.
The problem you see,
You can't mess with time
And take a different road you'd try.

Isn't life just a spectacle?
One hand short of a miracle.
And if you're butterflies through the wind..
And you don't think you want back in again..

Isn't life just a spectacle?
One hand short of a miracle.
And if you're body flies through the wind..
And you don't think you ever want it back again..

Well isn't life just an obstacle
That you can't wait to get around?
And you might break your face
Just to break the mold
Lift your hand and count you out.
Count it!

Shock me, Tell me about the story that you heard.
We've got all day to hammer out Just where it is absurd.
Spectacles and roundabouts and details afterwards,
You're gonna get it all today. We're gonna give it all away.
