"The Tunnel"

From rock to rock
and stone to stone,
It's what I do
when I'm alone.

With all the time,
such a place.
And now it seems,
without a face.

Laugh and mock
they don't believe,
I smile only
as they leave

Know I feel
a bit confused.
Its like the dream
where I can't move.

Alone at last,
the tide is low,
A greater pitch
in which to go.

The ocean swells,
I move away.
It follows me
as if to play.

Now I rest
in nature's own,
She holds me tight
and free from home.

In a different
world of mine,
There comes a voice
to tell the time.
Tell the time.
Tell the time.

Tell the time.

Does something else exist beyond the sky?
Will the angels walk or will they fly?
A familiar voice I haven't heard in years.
Tell me what to do in seven years.

And if its not my time can I come back?

Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.
Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.
Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.
Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.

A storm rolls in
but still i'm safe.
I find myself
within a cave.

The lightning strikes
like a spiderweb.
I catch my breath
on a concrete bed.

I can't remember
certain things,
Like when and where
I got these wings.

The storm had passed
and the day was bright,
And each step
seemed aflight.

Now I've met
my guardian,
My lease on life
renewed again.

Peace has
overwhelmed my soul,
And the toll collector
takes its toll.

Can i have
a few more days,
To take in

just a few more rays?

Live the life
that I'd always hoped.
And tend the plants
that I meant to grow.
Meant to grow.
Meant to grow.
Meant to grow.

Does something else exist beyond the sky?
Will the angels walk or will they fly?
A familiar voice I haven't heard in years.
Tell me what to do in seven years.

And if its not my time can I come back?

Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.
Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight.
Found myself in the tunnel of light,
and i didn't have the urge to fight. Found myself in the tunnel of light, and i didn't have the urge to fight.
