Roar the horns of triumph,
For they face a legion of Unconquerable souls,
The will, to stand regardless, against whatever foe.

With sword and shield raised to the night,
As lighting forks stretch cross the sky,
We hold the power,
And strength to make things right.

My comrades, my brothers, my country men,
On the eve of this battle, that we can't win.
We stand and fight regardless,
We fear no shadow nor flame.

The strength and honor that drives us,
The love of our culture that binds us.
We are our kings and masters,
We stand and fight through choice.

We stand united, we stand out numbered.
We'll stay unconquered, We stand Invictus.

We have shown that we are strong,
Cause we're still here, and holding on.
Not to vengeances, not to greed,
But to the soil beneath our feet.

These mountains, rivers, lake and shores,
This dream are what we fight for.
There numbers will count for nothing,
We fight as if those past are by are side.

Behind the flame and death we can still see a glimmer of light,
And that's enough to give us the strength to stand and fight.

We stand united, we stand out numbered.
We'll stay unconquered, We stand Invictus.

As we plunge into darkness, I'll be by your side,

And if your heart stops trying I would give you mine.
And if you fall, (And if you fall) I'll storm the walls of hell,
Even in death, I'll keep on fighting.

Back to back, side by side,
We will out last this night,
Even through this, we shall still see sun rise.
We will unleash such chaos, not even hell will want us,
Till they lay breathless, we'll never stop or falter till our end.

We stand united, we stand out numbered.
We'll stay unconquered, We stand Invictus.
We stand united, we stand out numbered.
We'll stay unconquered, We stand Invictus.
