So today, i wrote a song for you cause the day can get so long and i know, its hard to make it throug, when you say there's something wrong so im trying i'm trying to put it right, cause i want to love you with my heart all this trying, has made me tired and dont, even know where to start maybe thats a start cause you know its a simple game that you play, filling up your head with rain and you know, you are hiding from your pain and the way, and the way you say your name.

and i see you, hiding your face in your hands. flying so you wont land. you think noone understands noone understands

so you hunch your shoulders and you shake your head and your ... coming more soon
