You do me wrong, but you do it so right
You stay away too long, until I'm too weak to fight
And then you're here, making love to me all night long
And I know that it's wrong, that it should feel so right

You tell me lies, but it's what I wanna hear
You make me cry, then kiss away my tears
I'm glad when you're gone, and then I thank God you're here
And I know that it's wrong, that it should feel so right

Lying in your arms tonight, I can forget your lying eyes
And I won't ask you where you've been, cause I don't want to cry
I know that you're bound to stray, no matter what I do
And I know that I should just give up on you

You do me wrong, but you do it so right
You stay away too long, until I'm too weak to fight
And then you're here, making love to me all night long
And I know that it's wrong, that it should feel so right

I know that you're bound to stray, no matter what I do
And I know that I should just give up on you

You tell me lies, but it's what I wanna hear
You make me cry, then kiss away my tears
I'm glad when you're gone, and then I thank God you're here
And I know that it's wrong, that it should feel so right

I know that it's wrong
That it should feel so... right.
