

Ever We Fall

"No Sleep For Dreaming"

Visit "No Sleep For Dreaming" on MotoLyrics.com

As the parasol in bloom hid your painted eyes
The Parasites moved in and stole my porcelain bride she is Namless and she's vain, sucked with new attentions
And you
Didn't have to change they adored pretension
With skin Pale as the sand near the nest we laid on
You gave Yourself away, regret as an option
No sleeping for Dreaming now, the restless wander dark alone masking this
Pained shadow on our fears
We forgot ourselves We lost
Ourselves in this maze again
Chasing the moon's Icarus
Descent She is wicked - all the sane - staved for new Directions
And she wouldn't have to change they adored
Pretension
The soomthing screams seems fit, stowed and Locked away and in one thrust she turned night into day
No more tries, no more sleep for dreaming
No more, cries
Cure this rude awakening
And all is left to those that Could destroy their loves embrace
This could have been Done with more style, with more grace
No more sleep for Dreaming
No more sleep for dreaming
While the parasol in Bloom hid your painted eyes
As the sun climbs high, I'll Watch your shadow lie

Visit Ever We Fall page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.