So Long Wounding With Out You
Drifting So Far, So Far Stalking the Darkness
Dreaming about this life I Forgot

In Desert Lands, Ive Turned to Sand
Once Again, With Out your Hand

So Far Away from All That Reminds me of you
So Far Away I find myself here all alone

So Long haunting in anger Waving my Finger to all who would come so far searching the moonlight
Wishing that I might change what Ive done

Hold me now, Here some how
This Desperate son, We'll Become one(me)
To Take Away all that Divides me from you and take away these memories that drive me alone

Here I am Destitute, yet resolute
These Desert Sands
Purging me remind me of where I belong
