You can cover all your scars

Forget the past,
Or the future won't last

But don't think they could care less

Forget the past,
Or the future won't last

Nothing's what it seemed to be
Who's to blame, should I be free
I'm just staring through the crowd again

All those cruel dreams
Tears on my silver
So painful's the scent of the tar

Now, can you prove me that there was no crime
'Cause this time I think I've crossed the line
I'm so lost, I think I'm breaking down again

How can your eyes still be sore

Let go, give up I know you'll survive

Can't you see the white ships leaving

Let go, give up I know you'll survive

Guess there was no yesterday
So how could I remember
And I keep staring through the crowd again

All those cruel dreams
Tears on my silver
So painful's the scent of the tar

Now, can you prove me that there was no crime
'Cause this time I think I've crossed the line
I'm so lost, I think I'm breaking down again
