"It Is All Your Fault"

Diseased for no sake I burn in open fire impulsive overdose frantic overload evoked from it's shade the beast came back for more blood for sacrifice our weakness was our threat rage at me throw me against the wall spill your hate determination from inside aim at me leave me deadly thought hate your self it's rise is all your fault it's all your fault who was there to win, who released our sorrow defected symmetry, rejected empathy we found our god impaled our god lives no more god for sacrifice, we godless faced our death

Burn our answers save us from your sins break the silence bleed the fever more turn the fire into toxic breed see the lies and taste our infamy
