why are you crying my dear . do you think you're being treated unfairly again . well why do you think this happened to you . don't you think there's a reason for it . every effect has its cause and every action returns to its origin a pendulum that is pushed . always swings back so why are you crying my dear . treated unfairly again have you never treated . someone like that before to injure someone means to injure yourself . to inflict pain upon some means to inflict pain upon yourself . everything has its two poles
