"THE SILVERTHREAD"

I close my eyes

I regulate my breath

I free my mind and gather myself without my body I lean to my left side

I slip out of it

I look back to my body and the connected silverthread

I see the now visible beings around me

I start my journey

I pass woods seas and fields

I only have to imagine a place and within the wink of an eye I'm there

I visit a city

I see crowded people made unhappy by the greyness

I visit a country

I see starving people made hungry by the mighty

I visit a jungle

I see its native people made homeless by the greedy

I hear the crying of the world and I join in
