I'll pay you to watch me
When I dare you will you stop me?
Yet if I can make room along
We know who's right
When no one else is wrong

If I asked you would you tell me?
Or has despair overcome it's bounds?

So playful, yet inventive
When I forfeit your momentum
Yet if I stand and take it in
We know who's lost, cause I'm the one to win

If I asked you would you tell me?
Or has despair overcome it's bounds?
Have you awoken when you lie before me?
So stand and wait
Have we reached uncommon ground?
